

NQT Appropriate Body

Both the National Forest Teaching School and Arthur Terry Teaching School act as an Appropriate Body for the registration of NQTs and are working together this year to support NQTs. We understand that your NQTs occasionally need to be registered with different Appropriate Bodies dependant upon their training provider so our aim is to make the process as seamless as possible with the following:

Standardised Forms

The registration forms and assessments will be the same for familiarity and consistency.

NQT Manager

The online management system will be used by both Appropriate Bodies for ease of use.

Mentor Training

The mentor training sessions will run from both venues giving mentors a choice of venue and date.

NQT Welcome

Both venues will offer an introductory session outlining the role of the Appropriate Body in their induction year as well as providing an opportunity to network with other NQTs.

The Appropriate Body Core Package (price £150) includes:

- Registration, management and inclusion in the DfE NQT database.
- Mentor training and associated support documentation including a copy of the NFTS NQT Handbook for both NQTs and Mentors
- On-going advice, including a support visit for struggling NQTs.
- Processing, monitoring and quality assurance of NQT assessment forms.
- Determination of the length of the NQT induction period.
- Final decision on the NQT performance against the Teachers' Standards based upon Headteacher's recommendations.
- Notification of the completion of the NQT induction to the DfE.
- Access to the centralised electronic system for submitting assessment forms through NQT Manager.
- An introductory training session for NQTs including the opportunity to meet and network with other NQTs.

Further details of an enhanced learning package to include blended face to face and distance learning, an NQT Conference and networking opportunities will be published in the coming weeks.
